Gate City Brewing Co. in Roswell, Georgia has announced that its Freedom Fighter IPA, which raises awareness and funds to fight human trafficking, will be featured on Delta Airlines' Atlanta flights. More details are below.

Taylor Ganio is the face behind the recipe for Freedom Fighter IPA, a Gate City Brewing Co beer that has gained recognition for bringing awareness and raising funds for the fight against human trafficking here in Atlanta, Georgia.

"When I found out that we were planning on hosting an event to help raise awareness on the issue of human trafficking, I instantly knew I had to be involved." says Ganio "Being a Criminology major, throughout college, I focused a lot of studies around human trafficking. I have always had such a strong passion for advocating, educating and raising awareness on this issue. I also had a beer recipe that I felt would be perfect for this". Taylor Ganio is a sales and accounts manager at Gate

City and has been working in the craft beer industry for over 5 years.

Together with Gate City head brewer, Corey Regini, they brewed one of the most important beers in Atlanta right now. Freedom Fighter is a crisp and refreshing and easy drinking IPA. Hopped with Citra and Centennial Hops, Dry Hopped with Galaxy and Idaho. With only 10 IBUs this IPA is one that everyone will enjoy! The can label bring awareness to the human trafficking epidemic facing Atlanta as well as includes hotline information to report suspicious activity. The FBI ranks Atlanta as a known hub for human trafficking, particularly child sex trafficking.

Delta Airlines will be carrying Freedom Fighter IPA on it's Atlanta flights this January as part of it's campaign to end human trafficking. Look for Freedom Fighter in local restaurants, bars, and hotels around Atlanta this January.
